GERMANY CLAIMS
ANOTHER DECIDED SUCCESS IN EAST

Take 43 Miles of Russian Positions and Capture 16,000 Prisoners.

PETROGRAD IS "MUM"

French Continue Battering Tactics Against Formidable German Forces.

London, June 14. — Germany today claimed another decided success along the Eastern line. Northwest of Moseiska, in the region of Sieniawa, the German report said that along a line extending over 43 miles the entire positions of the Russians were taken and that 16,000 prisoners fell into their hands.

The Russian official report, however, only mentioned the locality where this action is said to have taken place in a paragraph declaring the Austro-Germans, after heavy losses in the region of Moseiska Friday and Saturday, did not resume the offensive.

According to Petrograd, the Austro-Germans again have crossed the Dniester, where, a brilliant cavalry charge at Zalesky resulted in a local Russian success but no claim is made that the invaders were pushed back across the river. A crossing of the river at this place may not be a serious affair for the Russians as it is remote from Lemberg and an advance from there would expose the Austro-German flank.

In the West, the French continue their battering tactics against formidable German positions, with some assistance from the Belgians, who have thrown a battalion across the Dixmude railway bridge they destroyed a German block house. They claim to have retained this position against German counter attacks.

Berlin claims the French suffered a severe defeat on the frontier north of Bouche, and Paris admits the loss of German trenches previously captured in that sector.

German submarines accounted for another big British freight steamer today. The Hopehurst, of 1,200 tons, being torpedoed off Saint Ives, England. The crew was saved. Another British steamer, the Aradale, of 3,583 tons, struck a mine in the White sea and sank while bound for Archangel. The French schooner Diamant also has been torpedoed by a German submarine off Penzance, Wales.

The full returns of the Greek elections are not yet available, but the triumph of M. Venizelos, former premier, seems certain. The contention of the Greek king may prevent the victory of the war party from having any immediate results.

Great Britain which has braced itself for the shock of the announcement of the issue of another $1,250,000,000 war budget, must wait another day, as the House of Commons rose this evening without Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, having made the expected announcement.

SOUTHERN PUBLISHERS IN SESSION AT ASHEVILLE.
Thirteenth Annual Convention Welcomed to Mountain City.

Asheville, N. C., June 14.—The 13th annual convention of the Southern Publishers Association meeting here this morning for a two days' session devoted considerable time to considering whether the association should advertise the newspapers of its members through circulars sent to prospective advertisers or through trade papers, and if through the latter whether the cost should be raised by assessment for through voluntary contributions of members based on circulation. The matter was referred to a committee for report tomorrow morning when a decision will be reached.

The convention was officially welcomed to Asheville by Public Safety Commissioner D. Hiden Ramsey and the response was made by James J. Smith, of the Birmingham Ledger.

W. T. Anderson, of the Macon Telegraph, who was elected President upon the death of the late F. W. Hinman, presided.

MAXTON VOTES SCHOOL BONDS.
Election Results in Overwhelming Majority for $20,000 Issue.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Maxton, N. C., June 14.—In an exceedingly quiet election held here today on a $20,000 bond issue for a new graded school building, the vote stood 138 for to 15 against. Steps will be taken immediately towards the erection of the new building.

Washington, June 14.—The Supreme Court today denied bail for Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Innis, held in Texas for extradition to Georgia to answer to an indictment of larceny after trial. The Innises were extradited from Oregon to answer to a charge of murder, of which they were acquitted. They contended they could not be held in Texas for another crime.

GREAT BRITAIN TO ALTER BLOCKADE

Informal Assurances Given by Ambassador Spring-Rice.

WILL AFFECT COTTON

Announcement That President Determined to Send Another Strong Note to Great Britain Already Having Effect.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Washington, D. C., June 14.—The announcement in the American press that President Wilson was preparing to send a new note to Great Britain demanding that England refrain from interfering with American shipping to neutral countries has had a salutary effect in London.

It was learned today that Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, has given Secretary of State Lansing what might be called informal assurances that his government soon will alter its long range blockade in so far as it applies to American commerce. The decision by President Wilson to make further demands upon Great Britain was reached a few days ago after Representative Webb, chairman of the House Judiciary committee, had made strong representations to President Wilson as to the injustice of the British interference with American shipping to neutral ports. It is understood that the American people were demanding a square deal both from Germany and Sieniawa.

It is intimated that they would not be satisfied unless England was also forced to observe international law. Ambassador Rice is said to have strongly intimated to Secretary Lansing that under the new plan American shipping to Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden will be given safe transit and will not be held up or detained in British ports. If this is done it will have a good effect on cotton prices. The unwarrantable detention of American cargoes, it is claimed, has seriously depressed the price of cotton and practically made it impossible for our cargoes to reach a market.

VENIZELIS PARTY WINS
IN THE GREEK ELECTION

But Returns Are Not Definite Enough to Indicate Majority.

Athens, via Paris, June 14.—The latest returns from the general elections, while confirming the success of the Venizelos party, are not yet definite enough to indicate the exact majority. Government candidates in Macedonia were elected.

The parliament of M. Gounaris, the present premier, assert that they have elected 120 out of 216 deputies.

Berlin, via London, June 14.—Official announcement was made here this afternoon that General Mackensen has occupied the Russian positions along the entire front in the Eastern arena of the fighting from Czerwierna to Sieniawa.

CASH REGISTER CASE
NOT TO BE REVIEWED

Setting Aside Conviction of Officers Stands.

Government Loses in Important Criminal Prosecution Under Sherman Act, Probably Most Far-reaching Action Yet.

Washington, June 14.—Refusal of the Supreme Court today to review the action of the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in reversing the conviction of National Cash Register officials of violations of the Sherman law, spelled another defeat for the government in what its legal officers regarded as the most important prosecution ever instituted under the criminal section of the Anti-Trust law.

Chief Justice White announced the court's decision along with the announcement of denials of an application for review in a dozen or more cases. No reasons were assigned and no indications given as to whether the refusal was based on lack of jurisdiction to review a criminal case upon the application of the government, or on an approval of law as laid down by the Circuit Court judges and by Justice Day, who sat in the case.

At the Department of Justice tonight, while no official statement was issued, it was frankly admitted that they had considered the Cash Register case the strongest that could possibly be brought under the criminal provisions of the Sherman law, and that failure of this case was accepted as meaning that criminal prosecution under the law would almost certainly fail.

Under the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals the government now may take the case back to the trial court in an effort to make effective the remaining counts in the indictment against the Cash Register defendants. Officials of the department say this course had not been fully considered, and for the present, there would be no announcement of the government's purpose.

CONCILIATORY IN TONE IS ARTICLE IS BERLIN PAPER

Believed to be Backed by Political and Business Influences.

WANTS UNDERSTANDING

General Director of Lokal Anzeiger Writes Noteworthy Article.

Berlin, (via London), June 14.—The Lokal Anzeiger prints a noteworthy article on German-American relations by its general director, Eugene Zimmermann, which, coming on the heels of Friday's conciliatory article, is taken to mean that influential representatives of politics and business are standing behind this paper and exerting their efforts for a German-American understanding.

"President Wilson," says Herr Zimmermann, "desires nothing more and nothing less than an understanding between Germany and England concerning the forms of maritime warfare which at the same time will insure the safety of American passengers. The task is not light, considering the development of naval war, but it can be solved if all interests display good will."

A new form might be given to naval warfare, Herr Zimmermann continues, "on the basis that passengers on ships with special marks of identification and sailing under the government guarantee that they are unarmed should receive proper consideration at the hands of submarine commanders. The compromise also must involve the withdrawal of the British admiralty's instructions to merchantmen to attack and ram submarines on sight."

The article ventures to indicate for the first time to the American public that there may be a second side to the question of arms shipments on which the press for months has been harping. Herr Zimmermann points out that "the world's typewriter heroes, who, far from the front, are preaching war to the knife against everybody, and conclude:

"We wish to write with blood and iron, but because we are fearless and determined we may look for possible ways by which to arrange the lines and whip the world into a new peace."

We need not close up our department of incoming or outgoing declarations of war, which heretofore has worked no harm, but we need to curb the output somewhat without incurring a reputation for excessive caution."

Another Paper Speaks.
The editor of the Tagblatt, Theodore Wolff, also publishes an article in favor of a policy aimed at the avoidance of new conflicts and the bringing in of new adversaries. He urges a suitable method for giving German diplomacy adequate authority and prestige at home to stand firm against "Jingo and whip the world into a new peace."

Wilson is Encouraged.
That Negotiations Will Probably Have a Peaceful Outcome.

Washington, June 14.—President Wilson feels encouraged by reports that the pending negotiations between Germany and the United States most likely will have a peaceful outcome. Those who have discussed the situation with the President and other officials in the last day or two have found a belief prevalent that chances for an amicable understanding with Germany are much better than they have been at any time since the Lusitania tragedy.

This feeling is understood to be based on both official and unofficial reports from Berlin, and on the fact, too, that despatches carried by Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard for German Ambassador Bernstorff will impress German officials with the American point of view.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, who saw the President during the evening and who has been talking with other officials about the situation, spoke tonight of finding a general feeling of optimism.

It was learned that the President does not plan to send another note to Great Britain protesting against interference with commerce between the United States and neutral countries of Europe until the discussion with Germany has shaped itself more clearly.

Colonel E. M. House, the President's friend, who arrived in New York from Europe yesterday, is expected to give the President much valuable information, not only regarding the feeling in Germany, but about the possibility of a modification by Great Britain and France of their blockade operations.

JURY STRUCK AVERAGE OF VERDICT OF EACH MEMBER.
Evidence to This Effect Held Inadmissible by Supreme Court.

Washington, June 14.—Evidence from jurors that a damage suit verdict had been arrived at by striking an average of the amount of money each juror would award, is inadmissible to set aside a verdict, according to Supreme Court decision today in a suit brought by J. W. Pless and J. W. Winbourne, of McDowell county, North Carolina, against D. J. McDonald, of Illinois, for legal services.

MISS GRACE WATTS HAS DISAPPEARED

Pretty Goldsboro Girl Believed to Have Been Kidnapped

GONE SINCE FRIDAY LAST

Mystery Creates Sensation in Goldsboro, Where Girl Is Well Known. People Prominent—Mysterious Woman in Case.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Goldsboro, N. C., June 14.—Miss Grace Watts, a young woman of prominent family connection in this city and throughout the State, has mysteriously disappeared from her home in this city and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Watts, fear she has been kidnapped and taken away by a strange woman with whom she was seen in company last Saturday by a friend of the family, who has also disappeared, as has Sam Williams, a shoemaker of this city.

When the affair became generally known this afternoon many unfounded rumors were spread throughout the city, among them being that Miss Watts had eloped with Williams, who is a Russian Jew and cannot speak the English language, but the father of the young woman says he puts no credence in such a suggestion, but believes his daughter has been kidnapped by the woman last seen with her.

Mr. Watts states he is sure his daughter would have confided with the family if she had had any intention of getting married and he firmly believes she was drugged and taken away while she was dazed and not able to realize where she was being carried or who was carrying her.

What he believes to be a ruse to throw him off the track of his daughter was a letter sent him late this afternoon by a woman in this city, received from another woman in Petersburg, Va., today, written at a hotel in that city Sunday, asking her to call on Mr. Watts and state to him that the girl and "Sam" (meaning the shoemaker who has also disappeared) had been married in Petersburg Sunday, had left that city and were now in Petersburg, where they had gone. Mr. Watts says he believes this is an effort on the part of the woman to throw him off the track and that she has his daughter confined somewhere in Petersburg.

Detectives will be engaged to ferret out the mystery, which has caused a sensation in this city. Miss Watts, who is a beautiful young girl, about 16 years of age, popular and greatly admired by all who know her, because of her sweet disposition and kind personality, first disappeared Friday night when she failed to arrive home from a visit, supposed by her mother to be to her grandmother, with whom she said when she left home last Friday morning she was going to spend the day.

Then the supper hour passed and the young lady did not put in her appearance, her father phoned to the grandmother, who stated Miss Watts had not been to her home at all. Becoming alarmed, but keeping the matter quiet, Mr. Watts inaugurated a search throughout the city, but could find no trace whatever of his daughter and under that decision the conviction of the mystery, which has caused a sensation in this city.

WILSON APPEALS FOR PATRIOTISM
IN EVERYDAY LIFE

"There Are No Days of Special Patriotism," Declares the President.

IN FLAG DAY ADDRESS

Pays Tribute to "Great Multitude of Unknown Men" of the Nation.

Washington, June 14.—A tribute to the "great multitude of unknown men" who constitute the body of the nation and an appeal for patriotism in every day life instead of on special occasions only, marked a speech by President Wilson today from the Treasury steps at Flag Day exercises.

While the President made no reference to the European war or international questions, his every word about American patriotism and what it means in these times was greeted with enthusiastic and prolonged applause.

In introducing Mr. Wilson, Secretary McAdoo said the meeting was held to pay homage to "the flag of our country at a time when it has a deeper significance than ever before in the world's history; when it is the hope of civilization."

"For me," said the President, "the flag does not represent a mere body of vague sentiments. It is the embodiment, not of a sentiment but of a history and no man can rightly serve under that flag who has not caught some of the meaning of that history."

"You do not create a meaning of a national life by any literary exposition of it, but by the actual daily endeavor of a great people to do the tasks of the day and live up to the ideals of honesty and righteousness and just conduct. And as we think of these things, our efforts in the history of a great people when they led that great people along the paths of achievement. There was not a single selfish-broker among them. They were men of sober, quiet thought, the more effective because there was no bluster in it. They were men who were not only self-aggrandizement. They were men, in short, who thought of the people whom they served and not of themselves."

Tribute to the Unknown Men.
"But while we think of them and do honor to them as those who have shown us the way, let us not forget that the real experience and life of a nation lies with the great multitude of unknown men. They constitute the body of the nation. This flag is the essence of their daily endeavors. This flag does not express any more than what they are and what they desire to be; and as I think of the life of this great nation, I think of the men who sometimes look to the wrong places for their sources."

"We look to the noisy places, where men are talking in the market place; we look to where men are expressing their individual opinions, we look where patriots are expressing passion; instead of trying to attain our ears to that voiceless mass of men who merely go about their daily tasks, try to be honorable, try to serve the people they love, try to live worthy of the flag of the United States every day heeded. There are no days of special patriotism. There are no days when you should be more patriotic than on other days."

"I am solemnized in the presence of such a day. I would not undertake to speak your thoughts. You must interpret them for me. But I do feel that back not only of every public official, but of every man and woman of the United States, there marches that great host which has brought us to the present day, the host that has forged the vision which it has the birth of the nation; the host which always responds to the dictates of humanity and of liberty; the host that will always constitute the strength of the great body of friends of every man who does his duty to the United States."

"I am sorry that you do not wear a little flag of the United States every day heeded. There are no days of special patriotism. There are no days when you should be more patriotic than on other days."

MOB KILLS SHERIFF
AND HIS PRISONER

Attack Was Made at Winnaboro, S. C., Court House.

FOUR MEN ARE INDICTED

Negro Charged With Attacking White Woman Being Taken to Court for Trial—Alleged Leader of Mob Killed.

Winnaboro, S. C., June 14.—A. D. Hood, sheriff of Fairfield county, Clyde Isenhour, alleged leader of the mob, and Jules Smith, a negro who was to have been tried today on a charge of attempted assault, were killed and seven other men were more or less seriously wounded as a result of an attack upon the sheriff's party as the negro was being taken into court here this morning.

Clyde Isenhour, alleged leader of the mob and a relative of the woman Smith was charged with attacking; Ernest Isenhour, his brother; William Morrison, a brother-in-law, and James Harris late today were indicted on the charge of murder, as the result of the attack.

Clyde Isenhour was shot a number of times and physicians said there was little chance of his recovery. J. R. Boulware, a deputy sheriff, received a bullet in the stomach, and is believed to be fatally wounded.

Smith was arrested in April and officials here, fearing an attempt at lynching, placed the negro in the state penitentiary at Columbia for safekeeping until time for his trial here.

Sheriff Hood and his deputies, with Smith under close guard, had reached the courthouse this morning when a mob of approximately 100 armed men attempted to seize the prisoner. The sheriff warned the mob to desist, but his order was disregarded and some one fired a shot at the negro. The firing immediately became general and lasted for about ten minutes. Clyde Isenhour died late tonight at a hospital at Chester, S. C.

Of the six others wounded, Earl Stevenson, a deputy sheriff, received two bullets through the left arm, one severing an artery.

Rushed to Hospital.
A special train was hurried from Columbia here, immediately after the tragedy, and Sheriff Hood and his deputy were taken to a Columbia hospital for surgical attention, where Sheriff Hood died tonight. Last night, Sheriff Stevenson was taken to Chester for surgical attention.

Despite his weakened condition from the half dozen bullets in his body, Sheriff Hood, who was taken to the state hospital, died beside the dock, and Sheriff Hood staggered on to the bar, where a court official eased him to the floor.

Peace Conference Is Urged by Villa

Notifies Uncle Sam He Has Telegraphed Carranza.

Miss Mabel Boardman Reports That Mexican Authorities Dew Entry to Carload of Provisions for Those Suffering.

Washington, June 14.—The United States was formally notified today by General Villa on behalf of the Mexican convention forces that he had telegraphed General Carranza urging a conference for the restoration of peace and constitutional government in Mexico. This step is the first tangible development resulting from President Wilson's recent warning to all Mexican factions that unless they came to an agreement among themselves soon, some other means would be employed by the United States to relieve the suffering population from further devastations of the military element. On General Carranza's reply depends the next move in the situation.

Coincidentally the State Department was advised by Miss Mabel Boardman, of the American Red Cross, that the Mexican authorities at Piedras Negras had denied entry to a carload of foodstuffs, consigned for the relief of people in Monclova. Consul Blocker is endeavoring to use his good offices to arrange for the transportation of the supplies and until he reports the details the State Department will take no further action.

News Gladly Received.
The announcement that General Villa had initiated a movement for peace was received with satisfaction in official quarters. Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of the Villa-Zapata coalition, called on Secretary Lansing with a copy of Villa's telegram to Carranza and a note from General Villa replying to President Wilson's recent pronouncement of policy. The note referred appreciatively to the President's efforts and outlined the purpose of the Villa-Zapata leaders to (Continued on Page Two.)

GOVERNOR SLATON
HEARS BOTH SIDES
IN LEO FRANK CASE

Prosecution Would Convince Him Without Jim Conley's Testimony.

REVIEWS COURT RECORD

Atlanta Ministers Appear in Frank's Behalf—Hearing Adjourned.

Atlanta, Ga., June 14.—The testimony for and against Leo M. Frank, which was presented at his trial on the charge of murdering Mary Phagan and in subsequent court proceedings, was exhaustively reviewed before Governor Slaton at today's session of the hearing on Frank's application for commutation of his death sentence. Early tonight the governor adjourned the hearing until next Wednesday. When it is resumed, W. M. Howard will complete his argument in behalf of Frank and the case then finally will be submitted to the governor.

Solicitor Dorsey, in a four-hour argument today against commutation, undertook to convince the executive of Frank's guilt on the testimony of other witnesses than Jim Conley, the negro, who was convicted as a perpetrator after the murder. Eliminating Conley's evidence, Mr. Dorsey sought to show how incidents and circumstances surrounding the crime as testified to pointed to Frank as perpetrator.

Mr. Howard also relied upon the record to show Frank's innocence. He declared that the trail of the murderer led from the "murderer" found beside the girl's body and which Conley testified he wrote at Frank's dictation. The attorney attacked Conley's affidavit and sought to show that his story was a cunning invention of Conley's own mind, contrived to save his own life and to place the blame of the law around the neck of another.

Dorsey's Argument.
Mr. Dorsey, in opening his argument, read from a prepared brief. He said he would discuss the case on three points raised by Frank's attorneys: First, that Frank was not accorded a fair trial; second, that the evidence did not show the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt; third, that Judge L. S. Roan, the trial judge, was not convinced of the prisoner's guilt.

Regarding the first point, Mr. Dorsey said counsel never made any motion for change of venue, and that there was no antagonism between Frank and Frank prior to the trial. The state supreme court ruled upon this point that there had been no showing by the defense that there had been any demonstration in the courtroom which could have been held to have deprived the prisoner of a fair trial.

Judge Roan himself, declared the solicitor, had held that Frank had a fair trial.

The state, Federal and United States supreme courts, said Mr. Dorsey, also held that Frank had not been deprived of any right in that he was absent from the courtroom, at the request of the trial judge, when the verdict was returned. These courts also held, he said, that allegations of mob violence were not sustained.

Atlanta Ministers Act.
At this point Mr. Dorsey was interrupted in order to allow Rev. C. B. Wilmer, a local Episcopal minister, to present a petition from Atlanta ministers urging commutation of Frank's sentence. Dr. Wilmer offered three reasons, which he said justified commutation of sentence for Frank. These were:

First: The atmosphere of Atlanta before and during the trial.
Second: The manner in which the evidence against Frank was obtained.
Third: The reasonable doubt of Frank's guilt, which, he said, still exists.

Mr. Dorsey Replies.
Mr. Dorsey replied briefly to Dr. Wilmer, declaring that he felt that the state had a clear case against Frank without using the testimony of the negro James Conley.

Taking up the allegation that the evidence did not show Frank's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, the solicitor declared ten witnesses gave evidence derogatory to Frank's moral character prior to the murder of Mary Phagan and that the defense did not ask any of these witnesses a single question.

COURT GOES AFTER ADMIRAL FULLAM

Virtually Charged With Tampering With Witnesses.

LETTER IS SENT HIM

Congressman Hay Says Superintendent of Naval Academy Has Been Coaching Midshipmen Summoned as Witnesses.

Annapolis, Md., June 14.—A virtual charge of tampering with the evidence of witnesses before the court of inquiry investigating the irregularities in examination papers in the Naval Academy was made today against Admiral Fullam, superintendent of the Academy, by Congressman James Hay, counsel for seven of the midshipmen defendants.

Hay said that the evidence of midshipmen "that they have been taken to the office of the superintendent of the Academy, and there that either the superintendent or his aide had told them if they took a certain position in this case what would happen to them," indicated tampering with the evidence of the witnesses.

"It may be proper," Hay continued, "when these young gentlemen are ordered up here from the ship that they should report to the superintendent. But it is not proper, in my judgment, that the superintendent should be allowed to give them his opinion of what they ought to say, or what they ought to do, or in what category they are to place themselves."

"I say it shocks the decency of the whole country that these young men should have to undergo a lecture by the man who is over them and in whose hands rests their fortune as long as he occupies the position that he does. It seems to me that the court, in order to protect the witnesses and in order to protect itself, will take some step to prevent that sort of thing going on."

After considering Hay's request behind closed doors for nearly an hour, Captain Robert L. Russell, president of the court, announced that he had decided that the following letter be sent to the superintendent of the Academy:

Letter to Fullam.
"The question has been raised in this court in regard to persons already summoned for appearance as witnesses before the court being seen at the superintendent's office, either by himself or by his aide, and instructed as to their status as witnesses or possible defendants. This might influence their testimony."

"Therefore, it is requested that prior to the completion of their testimony before the court, and prior to their being regularly designated as defendants, witnesses and possible defendants summoned through the superintendent's office be not instructed at any time or place as to the possible status in which they will be placed by virtue of any action they might take as witnesses or defendants."

MISS GRACE WATTS HAS DISAPPEARED

by a friend of the family who says he saw Miss Watts late Friday afternoon in company with a woman, whom he considered was a guest of hers, who was stylishly dressed and a stranger to him. This was the last seen or heard of Miss Watts so far as her father can learn, other than the information of a local policeman who believes he saw her in company with the same woman, judging from the description of her companion, who passed the officer about 2 o'clock in the morning Saturday in a city hack and disappeared near the Borden building, the officer being unable to locate them. The reason for his trying to do so was that it appeared to him as though one of the women was drunk and was being supported by the other to keep her from falling out of the vehicle. He gave the matter little thought at that time, though he called in assistance from the city hall and with officers made a search and tried to locate the two women, but they had disappeared as completely as though the earth had opened up and swallowed them, and the officer now believes the young woman who appeared to be under the influence of whiskey, was no other than Miss Watts under the influence of some drug, and was then being spirited away.

An effort is being made to locate the cab driver, who had a man in the seat with him, neither of which the officer was able to recognize. An effort will also be made to locate the author of the letter from Petersburg announcing the marriage of Miss Watts in that city; also if any license was issued, all of which Mr. Watts believes to be a ruse, and if any marriage was performed it was in the nature of a sham ceremony.

Kinston Recorder And Mayor Clash

Tens of Thousands Walking Who Usually Ride.

NO SERIOUS MISHAP

All Surface Street Railway Trains Stopped by Strike—No Violence Yet to Amount to Anything—May Be Trouble.

Chicago, June 14.—The first day of the big Chicago street car strike passed without serious mishap. No surface cars were run and only a few trains on the elevated. There was nothing resembling regular service except on the suburban lines of the steam railroads and these were far from adequate. A brick thrown in a window of an elevated train was the only violence.

All manner of vehicle was pressed into service even roller skates among some of the younger generation, but tens of thousands walked to places of employment. The great thoroughfares through poorer districts were black with people struggling to work. The streets had the appearance, except for the general good humor with which the situation was accepted, of the avenues of some city in the war zone from which the population was fleeing.

bring about reconciliation with the Carranzistas.

In the message to Carranza, dated June 11, stress is laid upon President Wilson's warning that the United States would be "obliged to decide on other methods, should coalition of the factions prove futile."

General Villa's Message.
"In our opinion, this declaration involves two perils, which may frustrate the ends of the revolution and impair our sovereignty. First, the Carranzistas without any other aid might again enslave themselves with American assistance. Second, should the people not submit to this, the American government might have recourse to armed intervention. In the face of these two imminent dangers, and without recognizing the right of the American government to intervene in our affairs, we think that we should seek means that would permit the reunion and reorganization of the constitutional party, even though it be indispensable to make sacrifices of self-esteem. We believe also that this is what patriotism and the future welfare of our country require of us."

The telegram was signed by General Villa and M. Diaz Lombardo, in charge of the department of foreign affairs of the convention government.

In the memorandum filed at the State Department, General Villa sums up with the following:
"We of the convention government have not been animated by ambitious for power, nor do we desire in any case to obtain it by means other than by the free vote of the Mexican people. But inasmuch as the desire to consult the country relative to the restoration of a legal regime, with constitutional sanction, is accepted by the Carranzista faction, we are disposed, in the light of possible intervention in our national problems by a foreign power to again invite all those Mexicans to unite and collaborate with us in the work of realizing the principles of the revolution, and the development of instruction for the masses and was only except from this invitation those who, according to the words of President Wilson, have ignored the constitution of the republic and employed their power against the interests of the people."

General Villa admits the contention that there is no recognized authority throughout the country. He refers, however, to a message to him from Duval West, President Wilson's representative, stating "it gives me pleasure to inform you of the magnificent impression which the tranquility and order which I have observed everywhere I have been made on me."

He also quotes from a message of Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, British ambassador to the United States to a representative in Northern Mexico expressing gratification to the Villa government for prompt action in protecting British interests.

EUROPEAN WILLOW SUPPLY CUT OFF.

Basket Manufacturers Seek Growers Here to Supply Demand.

Washington, June 10.—Because the European supply of willow rods has been largely cut off, several American manufacturers of willow furniture and baskets have asked the Department of Agriculture for the addresses of persons in this country who have taken up willow growing. For some years the department has distributed willow cuttings of imported varieties with a view to developing the production of high grade willow rods in the United States. The usual imports of willows come chiefly from England, Belgium, Holland, France and Germany, but these sources have been practically closed for several months.

NO SERIOUS MISHAP

All Surface Street Railway Trains Stopped by Strike—No Violence Yet to Amount to Anything—May Be Trouble.

Chicago, June 14.—The first day of the big Chicago street car strike passed without serious mishap. No surface cars were run and only a few trains on the elevated. There was nothing resembling regular service except on the suburban lines of the steam railroads and these were far from adequate. A brick thrown in a window of an elevated train was the only violence.

All manner of vehicle was pressed into service even roller skates among some of the younger generation, but tens of thousands walked to places of employment. The great thoroughfares through poorer districts were black with people struggling to work. The streets had the appearance, except for the general good humor with which the situation was accepted, of the avenues of some city in the war zone from which the population was fleeing.

The quiet of the day was not accepted by the police authorities as assuring continued tranquility. Chief of Police Healey said he would ask authority to enroll 1,000 extra policemen to be available in event of disorder when the companies make a real effort to operate. However, the finance committee of the city council decided to take under consideration for an emergency appropriation of $477,344 to employ the additional patrolmen.

A drizzling rain most of the day added to the discomfort of the strikers. Owners of automobiles, driving to or from the city, submitted generally to the amiable brigandage of those seeking rides. Few machines traveled with empty seats.

Solution Undertaken.
The state board of arbitration undertook a solution of the strike by addressing letters to both sides to the dispute asking either party to apply for arbitration through its organization.

Officials of the elevated systems denied they had imported strikebreakers, but said they had enough old employees on hand to take the cars out when they wanted to resume service.

CULTIVATE RELIABILITY.

Is Always in Demand and Adds to a Man's Worth.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)
The demand for reliability never ceases. If you buy a piece of machinery you want it to be dependable. When you purchase new clothes you desire them to be durable. If you elect an official you require that he shall be trustworthy. When you take on an employee you inquire whether he can be relied on, as to his word, his work, his loyalty. It is so in all the relations of life. While there is much unreliability, you never hear of anybody seeking it or placing a premium upon it.

The reliable man is always spoken of in terms of praise. His friends boast that he can be depended upon to do a certain thing under a certain set of circumstances without variability or turnaround. They say they can trust him and find him in the dark and can trust him then with the same faith as in the board light of day. They refer to him as one whom you can tie to. They have faith that he will either fulfill or betray. He has all the steadiness and fidelity of a well-trained plow horse. He may lack brilliance and finish. He may not be a genius. But as far as his ability goes he is as reliable as time itself, and thus he becomes more or less of an institution in the circle within which he moves and an anchorage for those dependent upon him in any way whatever.

Japanese oars are taking the market formerly supplied by Germany, at a slightly higher price. Finished willow baskets from Japan have come in where bamboo was the only Japanese basketware on sale before the war. As a consequence of the shortage of imported oars, it is said, the price of American willows has increased and growers here are meeting with a heavy demand for their product.

Nearly two million willow cuttings have been distributed free by the Forest Service among State experiment stations, forest schools and individual growers. The value of willow culture as a profitable means of utilizing overgrown lands not suitable for other crops has been demonstrated and the Department of Agriculture maintains a small willow holt on the government farm at Arlington, Va., for further tests and for the continued production of cuttings for free distribution. A bulletin on basket willow culture recently published by the department discusses the varieties and methods which have proved most satisfactory in this country.

PREPAREDNESS IS URGED BY LEADERS

Stronger Army and Navy Advocated by Speakers

OF NATIONAL FAME

Stimson, Dickinson, Judge Parker, Lyman Abbott and Others Address Mass Meeting of National Security League.

New York, June 14.—Better military and naval preparedness by the United States was urged here tonight by speakers of national prominence at a mass meeting under the auspices of the National Security League which today began a two-day peace and preparation conference at which 25 states were represented.

Speakers tonight included Jacob M. Dickinson and Henry L. Stimson, former secretaries of war; Charles J. Bonaparte, former secretary of the navy; Judge Alton B. Parker, honorary vice president of the league, and Dr. Lyman Abbott.

It would be the blindest folly for this country to regulate its conduct upon the assumption that there will be no more wars or intrust its destiny to any temporal power but its own, said Jacob M. Dickinson, former Secretary of War, advocating better military and naval preparedness. At present, he said, the army and navy defenses of the United States were wholly inadequate for war with any first class power. He added that "the idea of our getting into war is not altogether chimerical."

Immediate preparation for a national defense adequate to meet any eventuality was urged tonight by Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Taft.

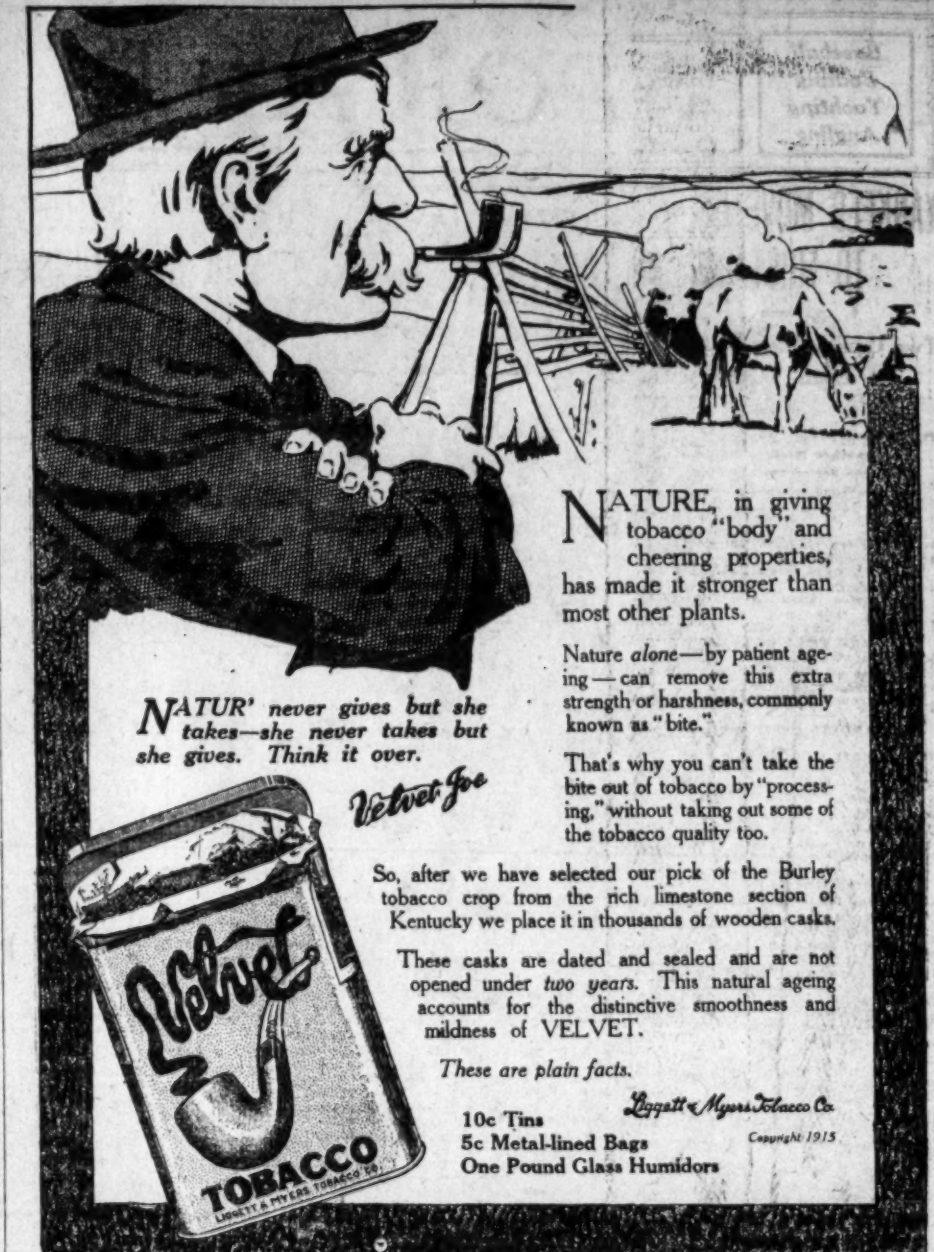

"The main danger of the war today," said the former secretary, "lies in the fact that we have so acted in the past as to give good reason for believing that we do not really mean to protect our rights. The surest way to get into a fight is to use strong language and then stand with your hands in your pockets. Is there a man who doubts that President Wilson's note to Germany would receive more attention if it were known that our navy was in readiness and our 'free people' in the language of Washington, 'disciplined and trained to arms'?"

In introducing Judge Parker as chairman of the meeting, S. Stanwood Menken, president of the league, outlined its purposes and said the conference desired to incite into necessary steps should be taken for an immediate adequate national defense.

Judge Parker declared the European war had taught this country that what was preparedness two years ago is not preparedness now.

"We are now faced with the question," he said, "whether we are in a position to protect our rights. We need not fear a growth of militarism, but we must have an army and a navy large enough to protect us and our possessions."

Dr. Abbott declared he was in favor of adequate preparedness as a means of securing lasting peace. He said the people ought to demand that our nation of some council which could lay out a policy that would ensure permanent protection to the nation.

NATUR' never gives but she takes—she never takes but she gives. Think it over.

Velvet Joe

NATURE, in giving tobacco "body" and cheering properties, has made it stronger than most other plants.

Nature alone—by patient ageing—can remove this extra strength or harshness, commonly known as "bite."

That's why you can't take the bite out of tobacco by "processing," without taking out some of the tobacco quality too.

So, after we have selected our pick of the Burley tobacco crop from the rich limestone section of Kentucky we place it in thousands of wooden casks.

These casks are dated and sealed and are not opened under two years. This natural ageing accounts for the distinctive smoothness and mildness of VELVET.

These are plain facts.

ROCKY MOUNT DEFEATS NORFOLK IN LIVE GAME

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 14.—Aggregate again was master and this time it was the Norfolk Tars that fell before his delivery. In a 2 to 1 clash that sounded in sensational fielding and in which Barton proved a worthy foe. It was a great fight for the second position in the percentage column and its turning to the Down Homers made Norfolk's stay there but a week-end affair. More than once during today's clash sensational fielding brought the fans to their feet and in this connection Thrasher for the visitors and Elmer for the Tar Heels, both of whom chalked up one-hand stabs after sensational spurts of speed to bring down a line drive that would have scored men on the paths.

THEATRICAL

It was a great welcome back Wilmington amusement-goers gave the Victoria theatre yesterday as a musical comedy house. They turned out by the hundred to show their appreciation of the charge, which precisely fits the weather and offers something bright, snappy and wholesome. It was a wise selection, too, the Victoria made in the way of an opening attraction—the famed and popular Almedora Musical Comedy Company. However, the management has picked all winners for this summer season of mirth and melody, so theatre-goers can whet-up their appetites for something choice each and every day.

The Almedora company presented the well musical concoction, "A Big Night," and it is a rip-roarer for comedy, while allowing the introduction of numerous musical numbers that are catchy, novel and jolly. In fact, you can stick a pin right here that it is simply a great singing show. The music is fine and so are the costumes. The chorus appeared to advantage, being composed of charming girls who know how to sing and dance and wear some stunning costumes. The battery of funmakers was led by that clever comedian, Lew Morgan, who is well known to the stage, and he kept the audience convulsed during the entire time he was on the stage.

So you don't want to miss the show and give the "kiddies" a chance to enjoy themselves at the matinee daily at 3:30 o'clock when the price is only five cents for children and 10 cents for adults. At the two evening performances the prices are 10 and 20 cents. Bear in mind, too, that the Victoria is electrically cooled and perfectly ventilated, which affords solid comfort this kind of weather.

Chaplin Again at the Bijou.
"If It's Good You'll Always See it at the Bijou." That explains why the Bijou is pleased to present today, what has been voted by the critics one of the very greatest comedy features of the year—certainly featuring one of the world's greatest screen comedians—none other than Charlie Chaplin, the chap with the funny feet.

Charlie said he liked the Bijou yesterday—and certainly the Bijou and its patrons liked him. So he's going to stay over today and present something entirely out of the ordinary—a very grand, Esanay screen, "The Tramp" in two rousing reels of guffaws. As the eccentric tramp Charlie fairly outdoes himself. From the time he waddles down the road with his cane in one hand and his kerchief wrapped around his neck, to his chief-wrapped dinner in the other, till he waddles out of the picture at the end, there is a ceaseless unrelenting side-splitting comedy—that's not press dope—it's what a noted critic said about it.

This is the last picture you'll have an opportunity of seeing Charlie, for some time—he's a guy who disagrees with Sherman—says it's work and not war that doesn't agree with him, so you don't want to miss this chance to behold him in his very greatest laugh. There's other features today too—"The Amber Vase," a great dramatic treat with beautiful Doris Fawn and Sidney Ayres, and "A Nightmare of a Movie Fan," one of the most original comedies you've ever seen.

Big Offering at Grand.
Gripping situations and genuine heart interest both are found in the great three-reel Esanay special, "The Awakening Hour," showing at the Grand today. Joseph Byron Totten, an actor, and Nell Craig, a stage-struck girl, are the leads in this drama. The story is out of the ordinary in that it pays particular attention to the feelings of the characters when they are influenced by the events that happen in the course of the action. It is a strong story of theatrical life behind the scenes and is truthfully portrayed.

Mack Swain is doing the lead in the funny Keystone, "Ambrose's Lofly Perch," and funny does not express it. It's a riot. Mack Swain sure himself again as the notorious Ambrose.

"Bunks Bunked" is a Mins comedy featuring Harry LaPearl and is a fast comedy from the start. The action never being allowed to drag for a moment. Bunks, the millionaire, is determined his daughter shall marry a man of wealth and social position, and LaPearl, as the favored young man is ex-cruciatingly funny. Nettie Noges is the daughter of "Spook" Hanson, the count. Have you noticed that there is everything at the Grand to make movie fans happy? Comfortable seats, perfect safety, healthy ventilation and the best of pictures.

Atlanta, June 14.—Nelson Whitney, of New Orleans, Southern golf champion, arrived here unexpectedly today and announced that he would defend his title in the championship tournament of the Southern Golf Association, which begins here tomorrow. Mr. Whitney, who was injured while at practice some days ago, previously had stated that he would not be able to compete. He has won the Southern title four times.

Fitchburg, Mass., June 14.—Keller, first baseman of the Worcester team, played through today's New England league game with Fitchburg without a put-out, an assist or an error. This record is said to have been equaled on an occasion by Jiggs Donohue, former first baseman of the Chicago White Sox. Fitchburg won the game.

Cincinnati, June 14.—By steady hitting and taking advantage of Cincinnati's every misplay, New York crept up little by little on the home team here today and when darkness ended the game in the 10th inning, the score was a tie, 5 to 5. Wayne County Man Gives His Life to Fact That He Took Too Much.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Kinston, N. C., June 13.—Strychnine in excessive doses sometimes acts as an emetic through the medium of irritation, although it does not have an emetic property, according to medical authorities.

To sat fact Will McKee owes his life. According to the story, which reached here today, McKee and others paid a visit to Jack Hill, who lives near the line between Greene and Wayne counties. Hill's smokehouse had been robbed so frequently that he put a large amount of strychnine in a link of sausage and left in a handy place with other meat.

"I'm some kind of hungry," McKee is said to have told his host. Whereupon the party repaired to the smokehouse and got sausage for an impromptu meal. The meal was over before Hill recollected the poisoned sausage. McKee had got the link with the strychnine. He escaped death because of the unusual amount of the drug that Hill had put into the link. McKee had recovered before a doctor could be summoned.

TOP O' THE MORNING

"We know the paths wherein our feet should press:

Across our hearts are written Thy desires.

Knowledge we ask not — knowledge
Thou hast lent,

But Lord, the will—there lies our bitter need:

Give us to bend above the deep intent,
The deed, the deed!"

—JOHN DRINKWATER,
"The Spectator."

Cotton-growing weather is here.

Some people are born snipers and some swipers.

If all of us agreed, we would soon develop into a lot of simpletons.

Always avoid the necessity of having to explain your explanations.

The man who says he does not make

Some of us refrain from rocking

Most everything seems to be either absurd or ridiculous to those who refuse to get excited.

What has become of the old-fashioned men who wanted to see fair play for the under dog?

We will now sing that beautiful song: "I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way."

Distant relatives become very near kith when you get rich enough to be approached in an affectionate manner.

When people are slow to take action, because they don't know exactly what to do about it, they call it conservatism.

A false newspaper propaganda steadily carried on sixteen years is bound to have its effect. It is one of the best evidence that advertising has its effect.

One place where a real man counts more than a count, is on the firing line. A count on the firing line becomes a real man. It's the man; not the title, that counts.

Probably Colonel Bryan expected people to differ with his views, but instead of that they do not differ with him. They abuse him without bothering to differ with him.

"A society woman was seen on Broadway with a monkey." Probably the old man laid up at home with the "monkeys" on account of the fact that he had a good excuse.

"Buttermilk is a corrective of auto-intoxication," says a doctor. Maybe so, but the best thing for an auto to do is to get on the waterwagon and

The most implacable enemies any politician can make are the trusts.
The worst hated men in America are those who have attacked the trusts.
The trusts are not the only parties who hate them, either.

"Don't rock the boat," and don't throw so many stones from the front porch of your glass house. Some men think you know on them. Consistency

Many people are mistaken in referring to some individuals of peculiar temperament as strong minded. Obstinacy is no evidence of a strong mind, else a mule would have a better reputation for intellectuality.

Solomon wrote a lot of paragraphs and they were so good that they have been handed down to us through the ages as Proverbs. Solomon was the original paragrapher, but his aim was to emphasize wisdom in a peculiarly pointed way. Matthew, Mark, Luke and John were reporters, but the author of Revelations must have been a magazine writer. By the way, why not call a paragraphers' club a Solomon club in honor of the originator of the profession?

NOT VERY ASTUTE

The American press is practically unanimous in its endorsement of President Wilson's policy in the con-trovercy with Germany and almost practically unanimous in denouncing former Secretary Bryan. Instead of pointing out the weak spot in the position he occupies and the method he would like to see followed.

The German press seems to be mystified over Colonel Bryan's resignation, for it fails to see why he could not sign the second note to Germany, since the second, if anything, offers Germany an easier way to meet America half way without having to consider the note as a demand or an ultimatum. So far as that is concerned, the American press also is mystified and it is jumping at conclusions and construing Colonel Bryan's motives without closely investigating his reasons for resigning rather than sign the last note. The Colonel's motives, as construed by a large portion of the American press, is that he wants to run for president and considered his resignation as a coup d'etat to catch the German vote, to be added to the prohibition vote and the suffragist's strength.

That is not at all likely, and we are from Missouri along that line. The Colonel would be lacking in sagacity if he had an idea that severing his relations with the administration and striking an opposing attitude would make him more popular and gain him votes. On the contrary, Colonel Bryan must have known that he was taking an unpopular course, and consequently was willing to bear the brunt of it in order to adhere to his own convictions about the matter. If the former secretary had any idea that he would gain votes by resigning in such a crisis as we are facing, he would prove himself to be anything but an astute politician. As a matter of fact, he must have known beforehand that his resignation would sound the death knell of his political aspirations, if he had any. A ten-year-old boy would have known that much.

As a matter of fact, the public will never know Colonel Bryan's real reasons for resigning till all the inner history of the cabinet meetings comes out. We think, however, that it is a safe venture to bet that the Colonel resigned not because the note did not altogether suit him, but because the cabinet refused to amend it by his propositions looking to arbitration and as to warning Americans not to travel on the ships of belligerents; else they would take their own risk and imperil the peace of their own country.

We have to give the Colonel credit for being too shrewd not to have known that he would play hari-kari with his political aspirations, so we must infer that he had no idea that he could help his aspirations, if he had any.

If the truth were known, the chief reason why the Colonel quit was that his pet amendments were not added to the finished document. As a matter of fact, he has said in his statements following his resignation that the note must be considered as conciliatory. The only thing wrong with it, therefore, is that it would have been perfect if it had contained his proposed amendments, which were rejected.

Colonel Bryan can not from the tons of the American press that he pulled his political house down on himself, and he must have known before he did it that it would make him more unpopular than ever. He had everything to lose and nothing to gain by resigning, unless he simply decided to stand by his political convictions whatever might happen to his political aspirations.

RALLY OPENS WITH AN INSPIRING ADDRESS

Rev. R. A. Lapsley, of Clark-ton, Heard Last Night.

Young People at Wilmington Presby-terial Meet in St. Andrew's Church. Programme Closes With Re-ception Tonight.

With a very inspiring address last evening by Rev. R. A. Lapsley, Jr., of Clark-ton, N. C., the young people's rally under the auspices of the Wil-mington Presbyterial, was opened most pleasantly and most auspiciously. The address followed devotional exercises by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, the beloved pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, in which the rally is being held, and in which rally all the young people of all the Presbyterian churches in the city are most cordially invited to join.

The exercises will continue through-out today, culminating this evening, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, in a recep-tion in the Memorial Hall in honor of the visiting delegates, who are ex-pected from all parts of the Wilmington Presbyterial. Mr. Lapsley's address last evening was along the lines of "Christ, Myself and the Other Fellow." Always an interesting and helpful speaker, his discourse last night found an especial appeal to those gathered on the eve of the rally, planned by the ladies of the Presbyterial.

The exercises this morning begin at 9:45 o'clock with devotional exercises by Mrs. Edwin Taylor, roll call, a greeting to the visitors by Mrs. J. C. Stewart and a response in behalf of the visitors by Miss Ruth Moore.

One of the main addresses of the forenoon session will be that of Rev. A. J. Howell, of Wilmington, on the general status of the young people's work of the Wilmington Presbyterial. This will be followed by narratives from the societies, prayer for the work and a Foreign Mission Pageant, led by Miss Antoinette Black and Mrs. W. M. Baker.

Just here those in attendance will have an added pleasure. In hearing Rev. N. G. Stevens, lately returned from the mission fields in Africa, he is spending some time with relatives at or near Clark-ton, N. C., and accepted an invitation at the last moment to speak on this occasion. He will be heard with much interest.

A recess will be taken at 1 o'clock for lunch at the church and the young people of all Presbyterian churches are asked to remain with those of St. Andrew's for the purpose of enjoying this social feature. The afternoon session begins at 2:30 o'clock, with a praise service conducted by Miss Gladys Brown.

An hour with the children will be led by Mrs. Eugene Phillips and Mrs. D. M. McIntosh. This should prove very interesting and helpful for all in-terested in young people's work. A devotion service, conducted by Miss Nell Bowden, will conclude the after-noon's exercises. The reception in the evening will conclude the rally, which, it is believed, will be in every way most successful.

They are declared liable to seizure and for-feiture by the United States govern-ment under this act. It is also alleged that the oats are misbranded.

The Deputy Marshal has seized the oats and a hearing on the case will be given June 15th, in this city.

WITH COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Want Information on Uncollected Fines in Recorder's Court—Other Res-titutions Considered.

Capt. W. H. Northrop, deputy clerk of the Superior Court and clerk of the Recorder's Court, was requested by the Board of County Commissioners yesterday afternoon to make a com-plete report at the next meeting of the board of all delinquents, who have failed to pay costs or fines since last De-cember. This action was taken after considerable discussion of the report of the Recorder's court for May which showed $138 in fines and costs still re-maining to be collected at the end of the month.

The meeting of the Commissioners was a continuation of the meeting on the previous Monday, the board having taken a recess at that time. Chairman W. A. McGirt presided and Commis-sioners J. T. Kerr, W. E. Yopp, M. E. Willard and L. W. Moore were present. Mr. W. A. Williams, the clerk, kept a record of the proceedings and Auditor Orrell and County Attorney Stacy at-tended.

Captain Northrop said that the large amount of fines still remaining to be paid at the end of May was due to the fact that a number of women were each fined $25 and the costs for viola-tion of the prohibition law and were given time in which to obtain the mon-ey. He said that most of it has been paid since that time. He stated that he had a number of accounts in which the amounts were being paid weekly.

Permitted was J. C. A. M. C. A. A. boosters to fix up the ground on the Court House lot, lying between the Court House and the county jail and just south of these two buildings, for a tennis court. While the court will be under the supervision of the boost-ers it will be open to the public. Commis-sioner Willard opposed the proposi-tion because he felt that it was not definite enough and believed that there should be some regulations. The ques-tion of rules and proper restrictions was referred to a committee compos-ed of Commissioners Yopp and Moore and County Attorney Stacy.

Commissioner Moore referred to a trip which he had taken over the En-glish Point road with Mr. C. Chad-bourn and Auditor Orrell. He said that Mr. R. C. Humphreys, and others in-terested with him in the building of the hard road to Carolina Beach bou-levard, wished to build a section of the road with a clay foundation, as suggested at the last meeting of the board, and asked the Commissioners to pass upon it. Mr. Moore was of the opinion that the road should be built in accordance with the original con-tract. No action was taken on the mat-ter.

Register of Deeds John Haas and his office were granted a vacation of ten days each with the stipulation that the time shall be arranged by Mr. Haas. Mr. J. W. Gilson, who was served as a juror for one day at the last term of Superior Court but whose name was not drawn from the jury box, asked that he be allowed pay for his time. This was granted upon the order being approved by the presiding judge.

Mr. J. B. Fennell was given per-mission to remove an elm tree from a driveway at his place on the Shell road provided he will look after the sycam-ore trees in front of his premises during the summer.

A resolution was adopted requesting the sheriff to furnish the board with an itemized list of all court costs with-in 15 days after each court.

The report of Albert H. Marsh & Co., public accountants and auditors, stat-ing that they had examined the ac-counts of the Health Department for the past year and had found them to be well kept at all times, was ordered filed with the clerk.

County Attorney Stacy was instruct-ed to confer with Mr. R. E. Reynolds, attorney for the city of Wilmington, with a view to constructing the new act regulating the appropriations to be made by city and county to the James Walker Memorial Hospital.

The board voted to pay the traveling expenses of Sheriff Cowan and a depu-ty to go to New York to bring back Jim-Hill, colored, who is wanted here as an escaped convict.

The clerk of the board was author-ized to give notice that the Commis-sioners will sit at a Board of Equalization on the second Monday in July at which time the Commissioners will consider the assessment sheets for the different townships.

YOUNG LEONARD STERNE

MUST GO TO COUNTY FARM.

Recorder Allows Judgment Made Sat-urday to Stand—Other Cases.

Young Leonard Sterne, convicted last week of blackmail in the Recorder's court, must go to the county farm for a year, the judgment made Saturday having been allowed to stand by the Recorder. James Monroe, colored, was convicted yesterday of having stolen several articles from a colored woman and was given 60 days on the county roads. The sentence was later changed to 125 and the costs which the negro is to pay tomorrow. He is in jail.

William Hicks, Ed Galloway, Thom-as McMillan, Henrietta Jones and Char-lie Evans, all colored, were found guilty and were each taxed with one-half of the costs. Judgment was sus-pended upon payment of the costs in the case against George Wright, colored, charged with assault on a female. Norton Jones, colored, was found not guilty of larceny. Prayers for judgment was continued in the case against George Coronides, a Greek, convicted of fraud by giving an alleged worthless check. Ross Kennedy, white, charged with cruelty to animals and disorderly conduct, will be tried today.

Secret at Municipal Association.

Councilman R. A. Merritt, Mayor Pro-tem, will represent Wilmington at the meeting of the Carolina Municipal Asso-ciation at Asheville Thursday and Fri-day of this week. Mayor F. Q. Moore was on the programme for an address on the subject of city finances, but was unable to attend.

WOMEN WATCH THE CLOCK In our stores and factories for that blessed hour when the day's work ends. The reason is readily seen, as the na-ture of their duties too often drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of organic troubles peculiar to women, causing backache, headaches, nervous-ness, and irritability. Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy, made from roots and herbs, may be relied upon to overcome these troubles.

IMPROVED CATTLE FOR BELGIAN FAMILIES

Car Load of Holsteins Purchased in the North.

Carolina Trucking Development Com-pany Undertakes New Industry for Its Colonists—Fines Crops Are Being Grown.

Mr. Wm. H. McEachern, of Wilming-ton, has returned from Cortland, N. Y., where he purchased for the Carolina Trucking Development Company a car-load of two and three-year-old high grade Holstein heifers to be placed in charge of the Belgian families at St. Helena, one of the colonies under the supervision of this company. There will be 26 cows in the car which will arrive Thursday or Friday of this week.

Mr. Frank Mead, of the Carolina Trucking Development Company, who recently returned from a visit of several months in Europe, said yesterday that there are now eleven Belgian fam-ilies at St. Helena. They have had long experience in dairying and it has been decided to give them improved cattle in order that they may have an opportunity to exercise their tal-ents in this direction.

A Holstein cow yields from four to six gallons of milk a day which is about double the quantity obtained from a cow of unimproved breed. The Holsteins are also better for beef be-cause of being larger.

While the cost is considerably more than for unimproved cattle, each of the heifers to be shipped this week costing from $120 to $135, the differ-ence in cost is more than made up in the results obtained. These cows re-quire better care than those of the or-dinary breeds but with men who have had wide experience in dairying it is believed to be possible to develop an industry at this colony that will prove a valuable object lesson for those in-terested in the development of the dair-ying interests of this section.

This is a new line of development for the Carolina Company, attention heretofore having been confined largely to the growing of truck crops. How-ever, it is believed that the time is ripe for beginning the growing of cattle on a small scale which will be developed as an occasional article.

Mr. Mead has studied the matter carefully, not only from the standpoint of one who is thoroughly acquainted with this section, but also of one who has seen what has been done in Euro-pean countries.

The Belgians brought to the farms of the Carolina Trucking Development Company have shown a wonderful ap-petite for growing fine truck crops. From 60 to 80 days after arriving in this country and becoming settled on farms in Pender county these Belgian families have had fine crops of pota-toes, onions, cabbage and other crops in flourishing condition.

A number of photographs taken of fields of these different crops which were taken the latter part of May have been sent to different points in this country by the Carolina Trucking Development Company and have been a revelation to those who were scepti-cal as to the wisdom of bringing the Belgians to this country.

INTEREST IN CHARITIES

Appeal by Dr. McClure for Employment for Those Without Means—Many Gifts Have Been Made.

Following a conference with Coun-cillman R. A. Merritt, chairman of the special committee appointed by Coun-cil, to take up with Associated Char-ities the matter of furnishing relief to the poor and needy in Wilmington, Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, president of this organization, yesterday issued an ap-pel to the people of the city, who have work of any kind to do at this time, to have it done immediately in order that those without means of subsistence may have an opportunity to secure re-lief for themselves and families.

Dr. McClure stated yesterday that many friends have shown an interest in this time of need and that many small sums and some larger ones have been made. Following is a copy of a statement given The Star by Dr. Mc-Clure for publication:

"To The Morning Star:—I am glad to report through your columns that many friends have shown interest in our time of need. Many small sums and some larger gifts have been made and a gen-eral expression of confidence has been manifested. Our secretary, upon whom the main burden rests, is an expert and as such has given time and thought and labor to the work not only in her office but in visiting and investigation of cases. She also consults the Health Department. I have had a conference with the chairman of the committee, appointed by the City Council. As a result I suggest that all persons who have work to do will do it as soon as possible.

"Meanwhile I am hoping that Coun-cil will make some emergency appro-priation for temporary employment of those who will work. We appeal to our police department to aid us in get-ting out of the city some who have come from other counties. Our work is a labor of love requiring a good deal of care with only one paid officer who receives much less than such officers in other cities receive. She is an ex-pert and invaluable in our work. Her salary is promised by the special gifts of our churches that all denominations may be used directly in the work.

"Yours for the work,

"President of Associated Charities."

MR. A. O. SCHUSTER OFFERS PRIZE IN BLOU POPULARITY CONTEST

Will Award Second Highest Contestant Elegant Diamond Ring.

It was Mr. A. O. Schuster, the enter-prising and thoughtful front street jeweler, who came up with the most original and timely offer yesterday when he announced that he had de-cided to select from his large stock of precious stones, a beautiful diamond, which he will set in a ring, to be pre-sented by his store to the young lady in the Blou California-Canadian Popu-larity contest, who has next to the highest standing when the contest comes to a close.

Mr. Schuster's action will undoubtedly cause a flutter among the band of ladies who are working for the great Blou California-Canadian tour, and will furnish more of an incentive to work harder, with two chances of win-ning a valuable prize. The diamond to be offered by Mr. Schuster will be placed in his display window, where it can be seen by everyone.

FAVORABLE ATTITUDE TOWARD BABY HOSPITAL

Committee Reports That Substantial Progress is Being Made.

The favorable attitude of the gen-eral public toward establishing a baby hospital in Wilmington is very encour-aging to the committee in charge, and it is hoped that arrangements can soon be made for taking care of sick babies during the summer months.

Twenty thousand dollars has been offered, if it can be endowed, and the movement is progressing toward pro-viding an endowment fund. It will take $2,000 to care for the babies this summer.

Those interested in the movement are requested to confer with Dr. C. H. Prudden, Dr. R. B. Bloom, Mrs. J. M. Souky, Miss Margaret Gibson, Sena-tor W. B. Cooper or Mrs. G. H. Croon, who have been appointed on a committee to put the matter before the public.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sick-ness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN ALUMNI REUNION
Former Students of Cape Fear Academy Are Planning Enjoyable Affair.

There has been much interest shown in the reunion of the old students of Cape Fear Academy which is to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening of next week. Several hundred invitations were sent out by the committee on arrangements but it is likely that there are some of the former students in the city who failed to receive an invitation. It is expected, however, that every alumni of this well known institution will attend and the committee desires that everyone feel free to come.

In order that the committee may know just how many to prepare for those expecting to attend are requested to register at Munson's. Prof. Washington Catlett, for 35 years the head of the school, will be the guest of honor on this occasion.

An Exciting Runaway.

A runaway occurred yesterday at noon at the foot of Market street which came near being a serious catastrophe. A horse owned by the Howell Lumber Company ran down the street at great speed with a load of lumber. On the northeast corner of the street is a small cook shop which was locked. In attempting to keep out of the Cape Fear river the horse swerved to one side and one of the wheels struck against the door knocking it into smithereens. The man was thrown through the door and the front feet of the horse became entangled in the government fence near that point, this effectively stopping further progress. Fortunately the man was not hurt and but little damage was done either to the animal or the wagon.

TO ORGANIZED LABOR.

The following has been endorsed by the Wilmington Trades Council, and is published for the information of union men generally:

"To Organized Labor and Friends:

"Greetings! On several occasions recently it has been brought to our attention that some of the Labor bodies, and individuals friendly to the interests of organized labor, have expressed the opinion that the HENDEE MANUFACTURING COMPANY of Springfield, Massachusetts, makers of the INDIAN MOTORCYCLE, are still unfair to organized labor."

It is our desire to correct this impression, as the troubles between the company as above mentioned and organized labor were satisfactorily adjusted last July and the HENDEE MANUFACTURING COMPANY, therefore, was placed on the fair list by the Central Labor Union of Springfield, Massachusetts, and also the Massachusetts State Branch of the American Federation of Labor; the company being fair to all trades employed.

"In view of the facts stated above, we believe it is the duty of every labor man, the country over, to make it plain that this company is fair, and deserving of all the support organized labor can give them."

RALEIGH TEAM IS DEFEATED

Wilmington Country Club Lacked Only One of Winning All Points in Golf Tournament Here.

The Cape Fear Country Club was again the winner in an interesting and pretty played golf tournament with members of the Raleigh Country Club which was played over the local golf course yesterday afternoon, the Wilmington team winning 14 out of a possible 16 points. The visitors took their defeat most gracefully and are not yet willing to admit Wilmington's superiority.

This was the first of a series of games for a beautiful silver cup which will be awarded as a trophy to the winner. The next match in the series will be played over the course of the Raleigh Country Club on Labor Day.

Before beginning the match at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the members of the teams were entertained at a most enjoyable three-course luncheon which was served by the following ladies of the local club: Mrs. Warren G. Elliott, Jr., Miss T. G. Emple, Mrs. Adair McKoy, Miss Carrie Myers and Miss Catherine Elliott.

The Nassau system of match play was used and the game was for 18 holes. The players were matched in the following order, the local contestants being named first: C. A. Johnson against W. A. French; F. W. Dick against Dr. W. M. Moncure; T. W. Strange against R. D. W. Connor; C. E. Taylor, Jr., against C. E. Johnson, Jr.; Dr. J. W. Stanley against S. Brown Shepherd; J. W. Carmichael against M. H. Schell; J. F. Roache against Julian Lane; A. S. Williams against W. L. Currie.

In a closely contested match between Mr. Fred C. Eaton, of the Wellsey (Mass.) Country Club and Mr. Mitchell, the professional of the Raleigh Country Club, the latter was the winner by one up, the match having been decided on the 18th hole.

WOMAN'S CRY FOR PEACE

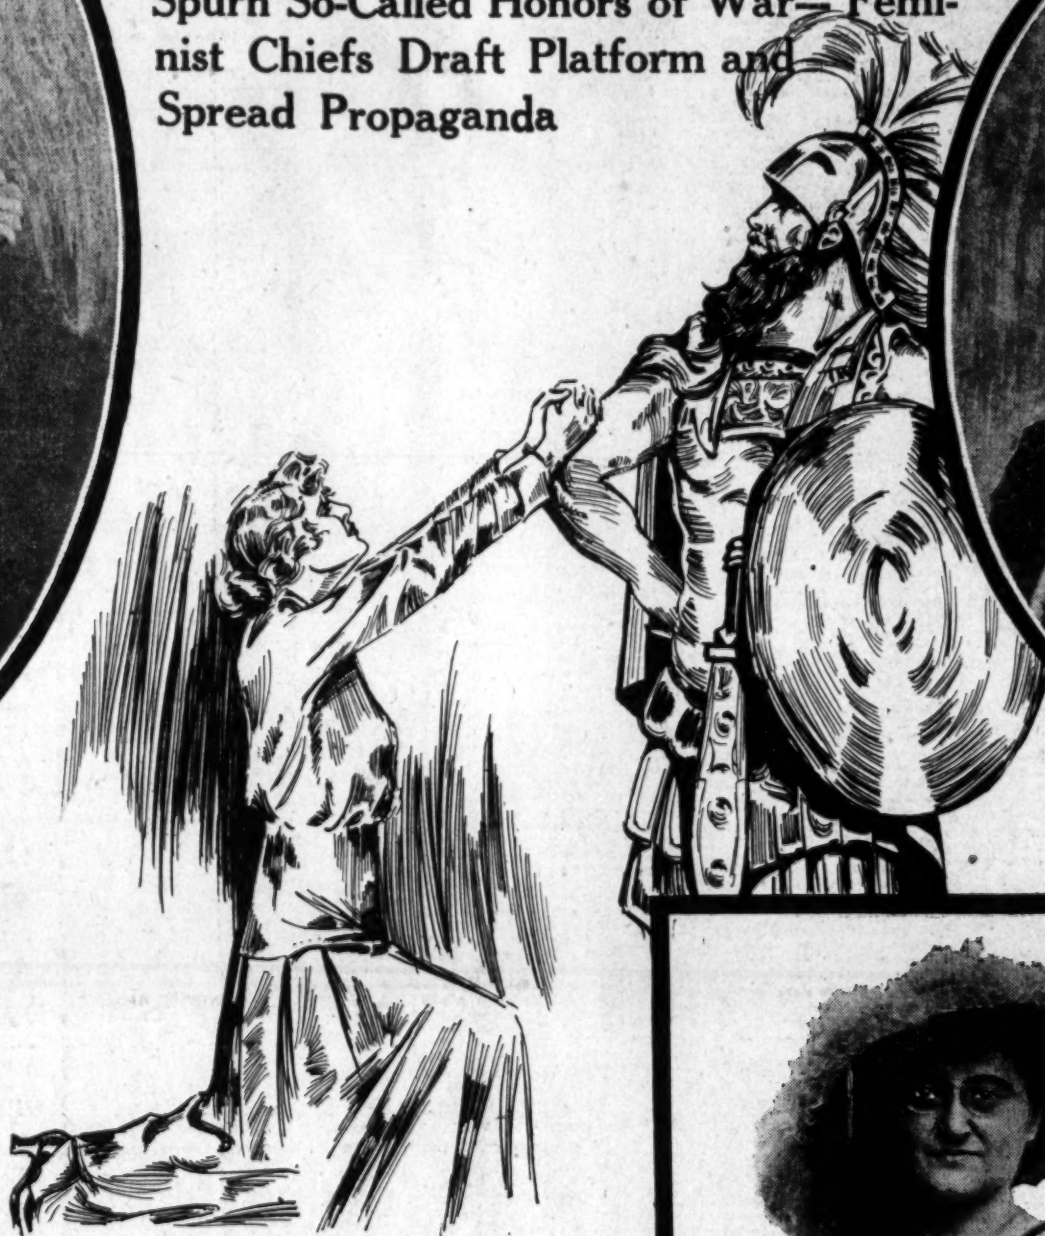

Suffrage Leaders In the United States Would Have Wives and Sweethearts of Soldiers Spurn So-Called Honors of War—Feminist Chiefs Draft Platform and Spread Propaganda

MISS JANE THOMSON

MRS PETHICK LAWRENCE

Woman's Peace Platform

Here is the platform of the Woman's Peace Party:

1. The immediate calling of a convention of neutral nations in the interest of early peace.
2. Limitation of armaments and the nationalization of their manufacture.
3. Organized opposition to militarism in our own country.
4. Education of youth in the ideals of peace.
5. Democratic control of foreign policies.
6. The further humanizing of governments by the extension of the franchise to women.
7. "Concert of Nations" to supersede "Balance of Power."
8. Action toward the gradual organization of the world to substitute Law for War.
9. The substitution of an international police for rival armies and navies.
10. Removal of the economic causes of war.
11. The appointment by our government of a commission of men and women, with an adequate appropriation, to promote international peace.

Through the world today comes the rumbling of voices—voices that have remained more or less silent in matters of government through the ages—crying out against the ruthless slaughter of the present European war. At first it was but a rumbling, but now it is increasing in might until eventually it must call those forces locked in the death struggle of battle back to their homes and peace.

The voice is that of woman, aroused at last to fight not for the ballot and not for representation in the affairs of government, but for a cessation of hostilities and for world peace. It is increasing in volume as prominent women in the United States and other countries join in the clamor and it is now conceded by many that while woman cannot call an immediate halt of hostilities she can build up the greatest organization the world has ever known and through it create such a sentiment against war that the world will have witnessed in the present struggle its last great war.

It is also conceded that such a world organization can eventually make war as unpopular as human sacrifice or the other barbarous traits that nations abandoned as civilization and education dawned.

The Woman's Peace Party is the leading organization engaged in this work. Already it has called on President Wilson to tender his good offices in bringing the war to a close.

Its members recently met at The Hague and decided to send emissaries to the leaders of all the warring nations to demand that they declare for peace. While their efforts may not be crowned with success at first, it is believed by their leaders—such women as Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago; Mrs. Rosika Schwimmer, Carrie C. Lapmann Scott, president of the International Suffrage Alliance; Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, an English suffragist, and Jane Thomson, treasurer of the Woman's Peace Party in St. Louis—the warring nations eventually must come to terms if the women demand it.

War to them in its present state is something like a baseball game. It will continue a popular sport as long as there are rooters to cheer each side on to victory, but as soon as the rooters withdraw their interest and patronage the death-knell of baseball would be sounded.

CENSURE, NOT CHEERS.

So with war. If women of all nations were to withdraw their interest in carnage, and censure rather than encourage the men who went to war, there would be no war. The one strong foundation of conflict between nations from the beginning of the world was protection of the home and family. Men left their teams idle in the fields and took up the rifle to protect their families. The idea of the Woman's Peace Party is to convince these men that the families are well able to protect themselves and don't have to go to war about it either. If women objected to their husbands or sons going to war and assured them that they would receive no welcome on their return; if sweethearts looked on war with horror and on the soldier as a disgrace; if women regarded victory in battle a disgrace and the slaying of one's fellow man as murder; if they scoffed at the hero's medal and gave no sympathy to those injured at war; if they united in censuring the government that sent their loved ones to the front, war would soon end, members of the Woman's Peace Party believe.

It is their object to eventually prove war so purely absurd that men will not engage in it. At such a time men will think twice before they go out and risk their lives for a hero medal that will not be recognized by the organized women as any particular distinction when they bring it home.

While education against war is the remote object of the Woman's Peace Party, its present object is to secure peace through the following channels:

WOMEN'S PEACE PLANS.

The immediate calling of a convention of neutral nations in the interest of early peace.

The limitation of armament and the nationalization of their manufacture.

Organized opposition to militarism in our own country.

Education of youth in the ideals of peace.

Democratic control of foreign policies.

The further humanizing of governments by the extension of the franchise to women.

Concert of nations to supersede balance of power. Action toward the gradual organization of the world to substitute law for war.

The substitution of an international police for rival armies and navies.

Removal of the economic causes of war.

The appointment by our government of a commission of men and women to promote international peace.

In forming the Woman's Peace Party the following strong preamble was framed:

PRINCIPLES ENUNCIATED.

We, women of the United States, assembled in behalf of World Peace, grateful for the security of our own country, but sorrowing for the misery of all involved in the present struggle among warring nations, do hereby band ourselves together to demand that war be abolished.

Equally with men pacifists, we understand that planned-for, legalized, wholesale, human slaughter is today the sum of all villainies.

As women, we feel a peculiar moral passion of revolt against both the cruelty and the waste of war.

As women, we are especially the custodians of the life of the ages. We will not longer consent to its reckless destruction.

As women, we are particularly charged with the future of childhood and with the care of the helpless and the unfortunate. We will no longer endure without protest that added burden of maimed and invalid men and poverty stricken widows and orphans which war places upon us.

As women, we have builded by the patient drudgery of the past the basic foundation of the home and of peaceful industry. We will not longer endure without a protest that must be heard and heeded by men, that hourly evil which in an hour destroys the social structure that centuries of toil have reared.

As women, we are called upon to start each generation onward toward a better humanity. We will not longer tolerate without determined opposition that denial of the sovereignty of reason and justice by which war and all that makes for war today render impotent the idealism of the race.

Therefore, as human beings and the mother half of humanity, we demand that our right to be consulted in the settlement of questions concerning not alone the life of individuals but of nations be recognized and respected.

We demand that women be given a share in deciding between war and peace in all the courts of high debate within the home, the school, the church, the industrial order, and the state.

So protesting, and so demanding, we hereby form ourselves into a national organization to be called the Woman's Peace Party.

We hereby adopt the following as our platform of principles, some of the items of which have been accepted by a majority vote, and more of which have been the unanimous choice of those attending the conference that initiated the formation of this organization. We have sunk all differences of opinion on minor matters and given freedom of expression to a wide divergence of opinion in the details of our platform and in our statement of explanation and information, in a common desire to make our woman's protest against war and all that makes for war, vocal, commanding and effective. We welcome to our membership all who are in substantial sympathy with that fundamental purpose of our organization whether or not they can accept in full our detailed statement of principles.

OUTGROWTH OF ORGANIZATION.

The Woman's Peace Party is the outgrowth of many organizations that interested themselves in this work but failed to accomplish anything. The leaders of this new party point to the fact that some of the men who were interested in peace movements were themselves interested in the manufacture and sale of arms.

Miss Jane Thomson, one of the five women who called on President Wilson to elicit his aid in restoring peace, said of the organization of the Woman's Peace Party: "It has been the result of every increasing activity on the part of women along every line and the feeling has gradually grown that women suffer and bear the burdens of war as much or more than men. The present terrible conflict in Europe has crystallized this belief more than has any other war in history."

"The Peace organizations of the past have invited women to be members, to make contributions and help support them, but women have had no voice in the policy of the organization."

"At the outbreak of the war, Madame Rosika Schwimmer, a woman of international fame and secretary of the International Suffrage Alliance, began a crusade for peace. She came to the United States as a representative of European women to plead with President Wilson to do something to stop the war.

"Mrs. Schwimmer addressed the American Woman Suffrage convention at Nashville, Tenn., and so stirred them that all were ready to attempt some plan for peace. Mrs. Schwimmer went to Hull House, Chicago, and joined Miss Jane Addams. Mrs. Pethick Lawrence went to Chicago also, and among the three the idea of a Woman's Peace Party originated.

"Nothing was definitely planned until January 10, until women gathered from all over the country in Washington, D. C. Their one desire was to put to an end the horrors that daily are taking place in Europe and to urge a cessation of hostilities. Also to bring about such a change in public opinion that the attitude of the people toward war will be turned into the belief that it is better to live for one's country than to die for it.

GETTING INTO ACTION.

"Thus the Woman's Peace Party has become a real thing. The women active in this work are almost all those who have taken part in suffrage work. Naturally they would be the ones who would see the bigger and broader relationship of life," Miss Thomson continued. She denied however very emphatically that the Woman's Peace Party was but a guise of the suffrage party in which an attempt was to be made to get the ballot through another method.

"Jane Addams," Miss Thomson continued, "and those other women who crossed the ocean to meet the women of the neutral and belligerent nations have now and always have had one thought—to make the world a better and happier place in which mankind may live better and happier lives, and no sordid ideas of personal gain is in their minds."

"At the meeting recently Mrs. Pethick Lawrence and Mrs. Schwimmer were selected as the two foreign representatives to travel through the country organizing branches. There is now an organization in more than one-half of the states."

"The work of the Woman's Peace Party has brought home to people the realization that women are factors in government and that their interests cannot be said to begin or end in any one definite spot. It can be said that this organization is the practical outgrowth of sentiment and feeling on the part of the women of the United States who are interested in the welfare of humanity."

That this new organization will be successful in the end, in restoring peace in Europe is not doubted by its leaders.

They feel that if the monarchs themselves have not tired of the fight the men in the trenches have and that when they make a demand for peace their leaders must obey them.

The women believe, however, that all the nations involved will be glad to accept peace if the matter can be settled without dishonor to them or their countries.

The leaders of the Woman's Peace Party hope to so interest neutral nations, especially the United States, that terms may be presented to all that will be satisfactory and in this manner the war will end.

Lighting Change.

"Is the mad of the house in?" asked the caller, who presented a rather frazzled appearance.

"No," said the lady, hastily sizing up her visitor as a bill collector. "He is out of town."

"Really, I couldn't say."

"Don't know when I can see him?"

"No."

"Too bad. I wanted to settle with him for a horse he sold me."

"Oh, is that it? Walk right in. He is at home now."

Old-Fashioned.

"Her husband helps her wash the dishes every evening."

"Hum," said the real new and emancipated woman, raising her eyebrows slightly. "hasn't she got him trained yet so he will do them alone?"

COTTON MARKET VERY QUIET FALL IN WHEAT PRICES USUAL LEADERS DROPPED

Prices in New York Ruled Within a Narrow Range; Close Steady at Net Decline.

New York, June 14.—The cotton market was very quiet today and prices ruled within a narrow range closing steady at a net decline of 5 to 6 points. Liverpool was lower than New York, and after opening at a decline of one to three points, prices here sold about 5 to 7 points net lower during the early trading under a little foreign selling and scattering. A favorable view of weather conditions in the South was expressed quite generally around the ring but offerings were by no means heavy. Prices stiffened up before the end of the morning and active months rallied to nearly Saturday's closing figures, but there was no snap to the buying and the market later eased off again to nearly the early low point. Closing prices were 3 to 4 points from the lowest on covering. The census supply and distribution figures were offset to some extent by the comparatively large stock of raw materials reported in the hands of manufacturers. Cotton futures closing steady:

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Market Preserved a Good Tone, Though Trading Was Not Extensive. New Orleans, June 14.—While trading in cotton was not extensive today the market preserved a good tone and there was a ready response to buying orders. Prices sagged under the dullness in the afternoon and closed at a net loss of 2 to 3 points.
Poor cables called selling around the opening and prices fell off 4 to 5 points. The rains over the belt caused uneasiness especially as they were accompanied by complaints of increasing insect damage and claims that buyers were stimulated to recover the loss and put prices a couple of points over Saturday's final figures. The rise in spots of seven points and claims that holders of actual cotton was very firm in their views, helped give the market a steady undertone in the afternoon.
Cotton futures closing: July 923; October 943; December 962; January 993; March 1015.
Spot cotton steady 7 points up, middling 915, sales on the spot 550 to arrive 551.

Low Priced Specialties Feature Day in New York Stock Market—War Issues.

New York, June 14.—Low priced specialties in which public support has at no time been keen were the feature of today's market. With the exception of United States Steel, the usual leaders dropped into the back ground, even the erstwhile "war contract issues" being relatively inactive and heavy. Sugar shares were up to 2 to 3 points on the increased foreign demand. Coppers were backward, despite reported sales of the refined metal at 20 1-2 cents for domestic consumption, with the new high prices of eight cents for lead.
Railroad stocks were variable when not heavy. American Can sold at the new high record of 47 1-2.
Sharp recessions occurred in the last hour. The one exception was the so-called Virginia debt certificates which rose from 53 1/2 price early in the month to 71 on announcement that the United States Supreme court had decided the long litigation between Virginia and West Virginia in favor of the former.
That the foreign exchange situation in again acute was seen in the decline of demand for the dollar. A new low record for these remittances to London.
Bonds firm, but without special feature. Total sales par value aggregated $2,235,000.
United States bonds unchanged on call.

WEST VIRGINIA TO PAY $12,393,929 OF DEBT

As Her Share of Virginia's Debt at Time of Division.

Controversy Settled by Decision of U. S. Supreme Court One of the Most Prolonged Ever Before That Tribunal.

Washington, June 14.—The Supreme Court today decided the long standing Virginia-West Virginia debt case holding West Virginia should pay $12,393,929 as its net share of the Virginia debt at the time of the partition of the states.

The controversy between Virginia and West Virginia over the payment of the old state debt in existence at the time of the separation of West Virginia in 1863, has been one of the most prolonged ever before the Supreme Court. The court for years delayed entering a final judgment in hopes of an amicable adjustment of the dispute.

Before the separation of West Virginia from Virginia, Virginia had a state debt of $35,000,000 incurred mainly as the result of an ambitious scheme to provide canal and slack-water navigation along the courses of the St. James and Kanawha rivers, with the hope of making a navigable waterway from Richmond to the Ohio and Mississippi; an elaborate project of macadamized roads; then of railroading.

In 1896 the commonwealth of Virginia asked and gained the permission of the Supreme Court to bring a suit before that tribunal to compel West Virginia to pay an equitable share of the debt, acting partly, it has been said, at the instance of holders of bonds Virginia had issued to cover the indebtedness.

In 1911, the Supreme Court announced that West Virginia's share of the principal debt should be determined by the ratio of the wealth of the two states. It was fixed at $7,182,507.49.

In 1913, Virginia asked for a final judgment, which would include interest on the principal debt. West Virginia then raised a claim to a share of the assets growing out of the investments of the $32,000,000. On January 15, 1915, Charles E. Littlefield, as a special master, reported that West Virginia ought to be required to pay to Virginia, on January 1, 1861, and should be entitled to a share of the assets based on the ratio of wealth. It was placed at $1,565,000.

On account of the excessive rains of the early spring, disease has caused considerable damage to the potato crop in several Southern States this season. At least this is the opinion of Mr. J. M. R. Adams, of the Department of Agriculture after some investigations in South Carolina and Georgia. Mr. Adams has been in this section for the past two days and is leaving today for the Norfolk section. The farmers report the crop to be reduced from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent. in the sections visited by Mr. Adams.

The cork like cover of the potato under any ordinary circumstances protects it against disease causing germs that are found in the ground, but with excessive wet weather the cover to the potato become porous and the protection is lost. It is only under abnormal conditions that this happens and of course the result is bound to be devastating to a part of the crop.

As a result of this disease, causing backward crops in the Southern part of the potato raising sections, the crops in the Northern sections were ready for the markets as soon as those of the Southern parts and now four states are shipping potatoes at the same time, a condition, says Mr. Adams, that had not existed in five years.

County Farm Demonstrator J. P. Herring, spent yesterday showing Mr. Adams over New Hanover county and helping him to make investigations and to gather facts for the Department of Agriculture. Having about finished his investigations in this section, Mr. Adams will probably leave today for the sections around Norfolk.

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary mercurized wax will aid you in this direction more than shelves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, procurable at any drugstore, completely absorbs the skin impurities, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that the complexion is improved. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvenating treatment—this for wrinkles—is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered salicylic acid, 1 oz. dissolved in 1/2 pt. water. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loose tissue.

CHAMBER WILL CONSIDER PROPERTY ASSESSMENTS

Special Meeting Called for Tomorrow Afternoon—Public Invited.

As a result of the petition of Front Street business men which has been filed with the Chamber of Commerce, this body will meet at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to consider the matter of increased tax valuations, in the business district.

It will be noticed that the public is invited as well as the members. The problem is thought to be one of considerable importance and little or no case has yet been received regarding the question that may result from the meeting.

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday gave out the following statement for publication:

"Resulting from a petition signed by a number of the city's leading merchants and citizens, members of the organization, requesting that the Chamber of Commerce consider the question of property assessed for taxation, over which there has been much expressed dissatisfaction, President Hall today called a special meeting for Wednesday at 4 p. m.

"The interested public are also invited to this meeting in addition to the membership of the Chamber."

CHANGES ON STAR STAFF

Mr. Livingston Becomes City Editor, Mr. McNeely Joins the "Force."

Effective yesterday, Mr. John A. Livingston, for a little more than two years a member of the local staff of The Morning Star, became city editor, succeeding Mr. Hazel R. Aiken, who recently resigned to take the position of chief inspector under the Department of Public Health of the county.

The Star "force" said goodbye with reluctance to Mr. Aiken, who has twice been connected with the local staff and who has done splendid service in that department, but the paper feels that its local service in the hands of Mr. Livingston will be well taken care of.

Mr. Livingston is succeeded on the staff by Mr. M. P. McNeely, recently publisher of the Lee County News, Sanford, N. C., but with daily newspaper experience on the Niles (Ohio) Daily News and the Laurel (Miss.) Argus.

He has arrived and already entered upon his duties and is commended to the friends of the paper.

Sunday night and brought to Toccoa, where he was said to have been identified by the farmer's daughter as the negro who assaulted her.

NEGRO HOMICIDE IN PENDER

Dan Devane Shoots and Instantly Kills Negro Named Moore at Long Creek Village.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., June 14.—A negro named Dan Devane shot and instantly killed another negro named Moore at Long Creek Saturday, using a shotgun. It seems the two negroes had been working together, taking up logs out of the river down about Wilmington, and they came up on the train, getting off at Montague station. They had been falling out over some money, the report says, the amount involved being one dollar and a half.

Devane stopped at Montague a few minutes, it is said, buying some buckshot shells, while the other negro went on to Long Creek. Before Devane got to Long Creek, he saw some one on the road and asked if the negro Moore was ahead of him. When told that he was, Devane is alleged to have said that he was going to kill him, and when he found him in the village he fired upon him, emptying the load in Moore's body. Moore fired his pistol at Devane at the same time, it is said, hitting him in the leg, according to a statement made by Devane before he made his get-away to parts unknown. The coroner held an inquest Sunday and the jury returned a verdict to the effect that Moore came to his death by a gun shot wound inflicted by Dan Devane.

A negro giving him the name as Dan Devane reported to Policeman O. V. Thompson.

Force, Saturday morning that he had been held up and robbed of one dollar and a half by another negro named William Pugh, alias William Moore, near Hilton railroad bridge. The officer and the negro chased Moore up the A. & Y. railroad for a considerable distance but he finally made his escape. According to the dispatches from Burgaw, Devane, however, continued the chase which ended in the fatal shooting of Moore.

GOVERNOR SLATON HEARS BOTH SIDES IN LEO FRANK CASE

testimony at the coroner's inquest and his statement at his trial concerning his actions at the pencil factory and after he left there on the day of the murder. "Newt Lee, the negro watchman, testified that on the afternoon of the murder he went to the factory at 4 o'clock," declared Mr. Dorsey, "and found the double inside doors locked, contrary to custom. Frank, he testified, told him to go and have a good time until 6 o'clock. Lee also testified that Frank telephoned him that night asking if everything was all right, something he had never done before."

Frank wanted Lee out of the way, contended the solicitor, so he could dispose of the girl's body, the murder having been committed between 12 and 1 p. m.

"Frank never accused Jim Conley of connection with the murder prior to the negro's arrest," declared Mr. Dorsey; "also Frank did not tell the police or detectives that Conley could write when the authorities were trying to show that Conley wrote the 'murder' notes."

"After Conley admitted writing the notes, Frank said he knew all the time that the negro could write. Frank tried to turn suspicion toward others than Conley."

"Frank had to take Conley into his confidence because the negro saw the little girl go up to his office and never saw her come down. Besides, he was able to get someone to write the 'murder' notes and divert suspicion from him."

At the close of Solicitor Dorsey's argument Governor Slaton declared a recess in order to visit the scene of the crime.

crime, accompanied by attorneys for both sides.

When the hearing was resumed Mr. Howard began his closing argument. "Eliminating Conley's testimony there is nothing in the circumstantial evidence to connect Frank with the murder of Mary Phagan," Mr. Howard said. "Frank's actions after the murder do not connect him with the crime. The only point in this record where Frank is coupled with this crime is the allegation of his connection with the writing of the murder notes and on this point there is only Conley's story that Frank dictated them to him."

Howard's Argument.

Mr. Howard described the finding of Mary Phagan's body in the basement of the pencil factory and the condition of the body. Continuing, he said: "Near her head were found two murder notes purporting to describe the person who committed the murder. Who wrote the notes? Because the person who wrote them had something or all to do with the murder. Jim Conley confessed 'I wrote the notes.'"

Mr. Howard declared Conley had testified that on his way to the factory the morning of the murder he had drunk beer, wine and whiskey. In five years, he said, the negro had served seven sentences for violation of the municipal laws of Atlanta. That said Mr. Howard, was the kind of person that crouched at the foot of the stairs as Mary Phagan came down. Her mess bag containing her money never has been found. The testimony, Mr. Howard continued, "shows there were evidences that the little girl had been assaulted. Murder to conceal the robbery and at that time for she had thought of a negro to save his own life."

"Now let's try Frank," Mr. Howard continued. "The murder notes were not the mental efforts of Frank, they are in the language, style and form of expression of Conley. The prosecution contended that the correct use of the word 'did' was not compatible with Conley's education. In his testimony on the stand the record shows Conley correctly used the word 'did' more than 100 times."

"It is immaterial that Monteen Stover was in Frank's office between 12:05 and 12:10 on the day of the murder and Frank was not there," said Mr. Howard. "We know Frank was not killing Mary Phagan at that time for she had not arrived there. The testimony shows that Mary Phagan could not have reached Frank's office until 12:13 p. m."

"Is that time accepted by both sides as the time of Miss Phagan's arrival?" asked Governor Slaton.

"No," replied Mr. Dorsey. "The state contended that she reached the factory at the time Frank stated, 12:05 p. m."

"We will leave the record to show"

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES ALL HER LIFE

But Miss Ayres Got a 'Beautiful Complexion' at a Cost of Only $2.00

Nov. 23, 1914.—"All my life my face was covered completely with a mass of pimples, blackheads and blotches. I spent a lot of money on numerous remedies and treatments without success and no relief at all. I tried so many things that I was afraid my case could not be cured. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap seemed to do me good right from the first. I used two jars of Resinol Ointment and some Resinol Soap, and this completely cured my case. My skin is without a blemish and I am the possessor of a beautiful complexion."

which side is correct on this point," said Mr. Howard.

At this point Governor Slaton adjourned the hearing.
